CLOSER LOOK: Avg. winning Beyer for this race is 99; best work has been earlier, but she showed earlier she can handle the sprint game; and of course routers with tactical speed often translate well to this 7f trip; best race of her career (won the G1 Ashland) came on this track July 11 so she handles this place just fine; still, it's not only first time vs. elders but some top-class peers, too; been working steadily and could fall into a nice trip sitting not too far off Serengeti Empress, Gamine and Venetian Harbor; 3yos have won just 2 of the 13 runnings, the last 2.

$1.8 million filly set her pace in the G1 Ky. Oaks last time out Sept. 4 and while she faded a bit to 3rd her effort wasn't terrible; after all, she lost to maybe the 2 best 3yo filly dirt routers and 9fs was maybe asking too much too soon, particularly against that caliber; been freshened and returns to one turn, a game at which she's excelled; worked superbly since to indicate there are no ill effects from that Ky. Oaks run; question is, how does she handle the very real possibility of a duel with Serengeti Empress and Venetian Harbor?

Got back on track with a game tally in the G2 Honorable Miss at SAR Sept. 6; while that was nice and shows progression she still doesn't appear to be quite the same gal who looked so strong in 2019; the good news her style certainly suits this trip and may play well here in a race that has a few sizzlers to provide a strong, likely contested pace; they maybe asked too much of her last year as they ran about 6 weeks prior to this race but this year they opted to give her a full 2 months off prior to that; maybe that can get her back to her 2019 form...maybe.

Continues her good work, coming here off 3 straight wins including the G2 TCA on this track going 6fs Oct. 3; speed is her primary weapon but she's no need-the-lead type; that could prove key here as she likely isn't as quick as Gamine and Serengeti Empress, but as she showed in the TCA she has the speed to sit close and yet can finish; even so, these are tougher than those TCA rivals and she tacks on a 7th furlong for the first time in her career; but her winning Beyer from the TCA was not only her best, it shows she may have what it takes Beyerwise to be in the thick of this.

Finished gamely to whip some of the better 3yo filly sprinters at this trip at CD Sept. 4, earning a career-high Beyer which puts her in range of what it takes to win this race; that said, she's faced peers only so today it's first time vs. elders, not to mention maybe the best 3yo filly sprinter in Gamine; at least comes here in peak form, has run well here, handles the 7fs and would surely like to see Serengeti Empress, Gamine and Venetian Harbor commit hari-kari up front.

Done little wrong in 7 starts, finishing in the exacta in all 7; was no match for Speech in the G1 Ashland here July 11 then no match for Gamine in the G1 Test at SAR Aug. 8 but was freshened and came back to gamely win a tough G2 Raven Run renewal on this track at this trip; she showed that day, too, she may be at her best when on the lead; trouble is, Serengeti Empress and Gamine are going to make that type of trip tough to come by; and if she is able to win the battle with those 2 early can she still have enough left in her tank to win the war?

She's at her best when on the lead so she figures to go, go, go; comes off a brilliant 2nd in the G1 Derby City Distaff Sept. 5 when dueling through crazy splits yet losing by just a nose to Bell's the One; has no trouble carrying her speed the 7fs; main issue is the presence of Gamine and Venetian Harbor but you know this girl is going to go, so it's up to those other 2 if they want to throw-down early or press; either way this girl is going to do what she does and it will take a big run from someone to foil her - and they're going to know they've been in a fight.

Finished well for 3rd in the G1 Derby City Distaff at CD Sept. 5; trouble is, she was still never really a threat to the top 2, Bell's the One and Serengeti Empress; must not only deal with those 2 again but other stalwarts; lack of speed often leaves her with a lot to do turning for home; at least she should get a hot, contested pace in front of her, but she got it at CD and still couldn't get closer than 3 lengths; figures to keep coming but if things fall apart and a closer wins this aren't you more likely to side with others?

Not only has done some of her best work on this track, she may be the trip horse; after all, you know a few of these are going to go, go, go from the start, whereas this filly will bide her time, swing out turning for home and come charging; main issue is whether she'll have left herself with too much to do as giving this caliber of rival that kind of headstart and first run is problematic, but she does figure to get her pace with 'Empress, Gamine and Venetian Harbor signed up and note 2 of her last 3 starts produced her 2 career-top Beyers. -Michael Hammersly

CLOSER LOOK: Hasn't done much wrong in seven career starts to date, and a big reason for his success is the fact that he has tactical speed and can adapt to any race flow; his Beyers put him in the middle of this, and he should be well spotted regardless of how the pace develops; splitting hairs a bit but the main concern could be the post, as this race features an evenly-matched field and could come down to trips; his only two losses in turf sprints have come when he's draws inside, including his first loss, when he broke from the hedge.

He was on the lead in a relatively pazeless Woodford at this distance and over this course last time and he weakened late; he is, however, capable of taking back off the pace and making one run, and with that type of trip he could prove a threat today; the last time he rated off the pace was in the Shakertown, when he lost his best chance when forced to check; his Beyers are on the rise and he has worked very well since that last run; price should be right too; perhaps the right value play.

Easy to like coming off a pair of wins and triple digit Beyers; he was no threat in this race in 2019 but he comes into this in better form than he was in last year; he was aided by the closer-friendly race flow in that last one, and by a perfect trip when he crossed the wire first in the Troy, but he clearly merits respect on the strength of his figures.

He and Imprims ran 1-2 in the Turf Sprint at Kentucky Downs last time, both helped greatly by the race flow; the give in the course may have also been an advantage, as he has run well over off courses in the past; this is his first try at 5 1/2 furlongs, a niche distance where experience helps, and his running style could mean he has to pass most of these in the lane.

On the lead going 6F in the win last time at Belmont but he'll likely revert back to stalling/closing tactics here, as this race will present a much different pace scenario; clearly tough if he can run back to that last figure but that seems unlikely, as it seems like a bit of an aberration given his past figures and the way that race was run; usual Beyers steady but a little light.

European shipper comes into this in fine form, and trainer Kevin Ryan had success in the 2018 BC, saddling East to a runner-up finish in the Juvenile Fillies Turf (83 Beyer); this filly has been running well of late against males going 5F; she has the speed to stay close and Timeform figures that suggest she's capable with the right kind of trip; she was behind Equilateral back in June but likely needed that race off the layoff, as she has been sharp since.

Behind the loose-on-the-lead Big Runner in the Eddie D and he did well to close for the place, as he's usually with the pace; this is clearly a much different challenge for him, and the fact that he was no threat in the Shakertown suggests he may not be at the level of some of these turf sprinters; the 100 Beyer he posted in the Daytona win back in May gives him credibility but whether he can run to that figure remains to be seen.

Game to get up in that win over Into Mystic, her 2nd straight score; that was her first start at this distance and she clearly handled the test but she meets males today, and a much deeper field of sprinters; Beyers make her a clear threat but also likely mean a relatively light price despite the fact that she spots turf/sprint experience to several key rivals, and her running style means she could use some help from the pacesetters; in a race that's a little light on pace that may or may not be forthcoming; at a fairly short price it may be worth trying to beat her on the win end.

Beyers are not as good as the top contenders' figures, and while he figures to improve off that last one -- his first start in a few months -- his usual figures are also a touch light; he was no threat behind several of today's rivals in his 2020 starts, including the Shakertown, two back, at this distance and over this course; his two wins this year came back in January but those were against lesser fields than he meets here, and with the aid of favorable set ups as well.

Ultra-steady Beyers make him an appealing choice, especially considering his latest, when he closed with interest to just miss catching Leinster in the Woodford; he moves all the way outside today, and that's no bargain, but his last win came at the expense of Leinster (4-1 on today's ML) back in May, and in that race he seemed to prefer being outside rivals; worth strong consideration at a square price.

Could prove an interesting longshot if this AE gets to run here, as he was a deceptively good 4th in the Woodford, rallying well after racing off the pace in a race where the speeds held the edge; Beyers are steady but the works he has turned in since that try indicate he retains his form; main knock is his running style, as he'll be wide if he goes and he doesn't have all that much tactical speed; given the right set up he could be dangerous in the lane, however, and he figures to be overlooked in the wagering.

Back at 5 1/2 furlongs and this does seem to be his best game; Beyers are steady but they are a little light, and he gets a serious class test today; he was no match for Wet Your Whistle in the Belmont Turn Sprint Invitational last time and that rival seems to have his own hands full here.

3-year-old filly wired the fields in her last two starts on the turf but she will have a tough time shaking loose from this post if she does get to start, against a field of this caliber; a race-long duel from the outside will make it tough for her to last late, and though she rated once when sent 5F she hasn't proven she can come from off the pace at this distance; not expecting her to last if she gets to start. -Kenny Peck

Last year's Preakness winner joined a rare group when he became a Grade 1 winner on turf and dirt after he got his nose in front at the wire in the Grade 1 Maker's Mark Mile here two back; he had another solid effort but finished third as the chalk in the Grade 1 Woodbine Mile won by the 7-year-old mare Starship Jubilee who has banked over $2 million; his races on dirt since he won the Preakness have not been that inspiring so we are going to look in other directions.

He was a very nice 2-year-old when he romped in the Grade 1 Breeders' Cup Juvenile, so it wasn't like his last two came from nowhere; not sure what was bothering him last year but he was very impressive in his two starts for Cox this year; the water is a lot deeper here but he looks a lot like Spun to Run who romped over easier in a minor stakes race at Parx - 110 Beyer - and received a 109 Beyer for his front-running win in this race last year. big shot.

Second from Calhoun won four graded races in a row and was coming off neck loss in the Grade 1 Pennsylvania Derby when he finished a well-beaten seventh in this race last year; he had been struggling as a 4-year-old prior to his win in the Grade 3 Ack Ack at Churchill in his latest; the 94 Beyer Speed Figure came in pretty light and he will need to pick things up to contend here, though; others look more attractive.

Another one that has yet to post a triple-digit Beyer Speed Figure and he comes into this off a two-month layoff; at least he is coming off a win but he was facing 3-year-olds only and the runner-up came back to finish second in a second-level allowance race with a $100K claiming option at Churchill; McCarthy is the only trainer with a win in this race - City of Light who just missed in the Grade 1 Forego prior to his victory in 2018; this guy does not have nearly the same credentials, though; not likely;

Second from Cox figures to have his work cut out for him breaking from this post; at least he is heading in the right direction following a break with back-to-back runner up finishes in the Grade 2 Alysheba and Grade 3 Pimlico Special; he also won the Grade 3 Lexington the only time he ran over this surface and he is perfect in two starts at the distance; his best races are when he's settled early and made a big run late and he could get that kind of trip here; nonetheless, at the most we would use him in the exotics.

He came a long way to get stuck on the also-eligible list; don't think he was beating much in his romp in his latest at Nagoya and if he gets to run he will be going a middle distance for the first time while breaking form a tough post; his trainer did not have any luck with the two horses he brought to last year; 's Breeders' Cup and this guy will be a big price if he gets to go; probably not. -Randy Goulding

CLOSER LOOK: 7yo has been one of the great claims of all time since being taken for $16k back in 2017, as she is now a multiple Grade 1 winner with over $2 million in earnings; cut back to defeat males in the Woodbine Mile over her home track last time but it is the Diana back in June that has to be reconciled while evaluating her chances in this spot; she faced three of these same rivals in that Diana and was no match when all was said and done in finishing 4th; she is versatile in terms of distance and running style and she would be a worthy winner on this race, not to mention a great story; not taking her chances lightly.

The 2018 BC Filly & Mare Turf winner, she was favored to defend her title last year while entering off of wins in the Diana, Beverly D., and Flower Bowl, but she did not show up with her best at Santa Anita despite having a fast pace to work with and settled for a tame 3rd; has not looked like the best version of herself so far this year but it has only been two starts and it may prove to be foolish to take her chances too lightly considering her overall body of work; needs to turn things around quickly.

 The least accomplished of Chad Brown's foursome, she is also the least exposed and she did not run poorly at all when stretched out for the first time in the Flower Bowl; she came wide to contention in that Flower Bowl and just came up short at the end while matching her career-best 96 Beyer from her previous race; she keeps the go-to rider for this barn - who has never been engaged with any of the three stablemates - and can improve again, though she will have to.

Has taken on more distance this year as a 3yo and it has looked good on her while finishing 2nd in all of the Pretty Polly, Irish Oaks, and Give Thanks to serious talents, and then finally breaking through in that impressive Group 2 win last time; has a tough outside draw to overcome but she is a 3yo filly heading the right way at the right time and she is likely to be a fair price come post time. -Mike Beer

That 98 Beyer he put up in the optional claiming win over this strip last time gives him credibility but this class rise is tough to overlook; he has put up solid figures against lesser in the past but he has not shown he is good enough to win at this level, as he has struggled in stakes races well below races of this caliber; not expecting him to run back to that last Beyer.

Enjoyed a nice set up and trip in his latest but was nailed on the wire by the closing Bon Raison; both of these runners were awarded 98 Beyers for that race, an improvement on their recent figures, but the water gets deeper here; this colt is also a bounce candidate as he makes his 2nd start off the layoff following a career-best figure in that race and any kind of regression will hurt his chances against this group.

3-year-old filly tries males for the first time, and also meets older for only the 2nd time; she has been extremely sharp this year and she comes off a very nice couple of wins in New York; the Beyers fit, but more importantly she fits the race flow of this Sprint nicely, as there's just not all that much pure speed in this field, and she will be forwardly placed from the start; the fact that she doesn't need the lead helps her cause, as she figures to be just off expected pacesetter Yaupon, and these two can control the race if no other runners come at them hard early.

Always have to respect this hard-trying 7-year-old gelding, who was third in this race last year; he does come off a pair of average efforts, however, and he doesn't figure to get a wild pace in this one, and that may be what he needs to make the last run against a group of this quality; thinking he may be too late if the pace is relatively controlled.

Has enough speed to stay close, and that's an edge, but while he comes off a big figure in the Vosburgh he was greatly aided by race flow in that short field; seems more likely to regress than move forward today, as he does figure to spot position to the pure speeds this time; respect his consistency and the fact that his positional speed should help him work out a trip but he will need things to break his way to win this, it seems.

Game try in the Phoenix, at a huge price; he was on the lead there and he should be involved from the start once again, and that should be an edge if the race flow develops as expected; this is clearly a jump in class for him, and he seems overmatched on paper when you consider he was all out to win an off-the-turf ANIX only in May, but he does fit the race flow and his best recent figures put him in the ballpark.

Undefeated Uncle Mo colt looms the main pacesetter in this BC Sprint, no small consideration given the relative lack of pace in this field; Asmussen had also considered phenom sprinter Nashville for this race but opted to go with this runner, who is a little more seasoned; the Chick Lang victory was sharp, as he was under pressure from the start after a bumping incident at the start; could well shake loose in this race, and if he's able to do that he'll be tough to reel in, as his Beyers are good enough and he should be able to run to them with that tactical advantage.

Steady Beyers make him easy to like, as does his tactical early zip and solid stretch kick; he was aided by an ideal trip in that last one but the fact is his versatility should mean he's once again well spotted just off the speeds; he's worked very well since that win and there's little reason to think he won't run another big race here; main concern is the likely race flow, as he may not get a contested pace, but given a duel up front his stock goes way up.

CLOSER LOOK: Avg. winning Beyer for this race is 109; a good 4th in this last year; the turf at SA last year was pretty firm but he may be a bit better with a smidge of give in the ground and that may well be what he gets here; been knocking heads with some of Europe's absolute best; was dull in the G1 Queen Elizabeth at Ascot last time out Oct. 17 but that race was run in a bog; he'll get friendlier footing here; while he rallied from well back last year he's got more tactical speed so he could get a nice stalking trip; oddly enough, for all his BC success, O'Brien has yet to win this.

Plenty scary as he was one of the best horses in Europe; after he won the G1 2,000 Guineas (at this trip) he ran 4th in 3 straight but had excuses - the Derby was too far, he was troubled vs. top-class foes in the Sussex, then again found distance a bit beyond him in the Juddmonte; returned to a mile in a G2 Sept. 25 he bounced back, beating some quality foes; so maybe this (a mile) is his best game; has enough tactical speed to be in a good spot from the start; Euros have won 14 of the 36 runnings, though remember 2 horses account for 5 of those wins (Miesque, 2; Goldikova, 3).

After 4 straight wins (including 2 Irish G1s) he was a good 3rd in the G1 Sussex vs. elders July 29, good because he had a lousy start and traffic issues; was then a well-beaten 4th in the G1 Prix du Moulin in France Sept. 6, but he threw a fit at the gate so that may have accounted for that; Lyons was quoted saying he didn't want to bring a 3yo to the BC, that he was thinking more 2021 for this guy, but plans changed as this guy is retiring to stand in Japan after this; it's tough enough to win a race like this with perfect planning so can he do it with a change of plans?; owner won this with Expert Eye (2018).

Always had ability but really blossomed this summer with 2 wins including the G1 Turf Classic at CD Sept. 5; yet, that came going farther (1 1/8 miles) but he's 2 for 2 at this mile trip so the distance cutback is no issue; hasn't run since that win and his 2 prior efforts off the bench were good but weren't his best; been working steadily; but could Brown win this with maybe only his 3rd best in here (Uni, Raging Bull)?; Brown won this last year with Uni.

Been knocking heads with One Master the past year or so and more than holding his own; after all, he whipped 'Master in a G2 at York Aug. 22 and fell just a neck shy of that mare in a G1 in France Oct. 4; he may be a 7yo now but he looks as good as ever, in fact, he may BE better than ever; certainly the trip is no issue and he's got enough tactical speed so he's not coming from miles out of it; so if 'Master is a threat here (and she is) doesn't it follow this guy's proximity to her mean he's a threat, too?; darn tootin' it does.

His 3rd in the G1 Fourstarvase was better than it looks on paper as he was really the only one closing ground that day; then set the pace in the G1 Shadwell Turf Mile here Oct. 3 before tiring a bit late to end up 4th; still, that wasn't a bad run, particularly when you note he's probably not at his best on the lead; oh, he has tactical speed but he's better on the stalk; his 4 Beyers this year are the best of his life so he's developed well; still, it's been 15 months since his last win and he likely needs another big move forward; Mott won this with Tourist (2016).

You had to be a bit worried about him in the spring when he was 10th in the G1 Shoemaker Mile and 6th in the G2 Wise Dan, that maybe he was going the wrong way; well, he went to WO afterward and got back on track, first whipping rivals in a G2 and the finishing 2nd in the G1 Woodbine Mile; only prior try here was a very good 5th as he had traffic issues early and late yet was still beaten by just a length; done enough good work at the highest level to make you believe he's not out of his element here; Casse won this with World Approval (2017) and Tepin (2015).

Your defending champ; last year's win capped a dazzling season which culminated in her being named champion turf mare; things didn't get off to such a good start this year as her return was delayed (popped a splint) and she wasn't really a factor in her first 2 starts; however, she looked more her old self in the G1 First Lady here Oct. 3, biding her time and powering home to win well; she used the First Lady as a prep for last year's win, too, and you know so she loves this layout; that said, she hasn't run as fast this year as she did last year and this year's group may be a tad tougher.

Has had a smashing year winning 5 of 7; but let's face it, those wins all came over slightly lesser than he faces here; still, that good 2nd in the G1 Turf Classic at CD Sept. 5 to today's foe Digital Age show he's still by no means out of his element here, and considering his season he deserves this shot; comes off a smashing in a G2 at PIM Oct. 3 where he posted a 110 Beyer, the biggest in this field; speed to be in it from the start, but Halladay is as quick or quicker and could it be this guy's speed serves him better going longer (0 for 6 at a mile).

Looked on his way to a huge season when he absolutely blasted home to romp in the G1 Shoemaker Mile at SA May 25; good as that looked, however, it was a bit of a mirage - not that he didn't run well, but the pace fell apart as he made his strong move and main rival and stablemate Without Parole got trapped inside; has run well since including a couple G1 SPs so his quality is certain; still, he got a brutal draw, sometimes leaves himself with too much to do and likely needs all the breaks in terms of pace and traffic; but he'll be coming and has run well here; Brown won this last year with Uni.

CLOSER LOOK: Avg. winning Beyer for this race is 105; connections were kicking around the idea of also entering the Filly & Mare Sprint but opted to only enter here; that may speak of confidence; after all, she won the G1 Apple Blossom going 1 1/16 miles so she can route and 2 turns; that said, things tailed off some after that as she wasn't as sharp in the summer; freshened since and if able to return to her best she could have a say, but will her best come at this trip longer than anything she's ever tried?

Continues her ascent as she comes here having won 4 straight; sure, the first 3 were vs. lesser but her G2 Zenyatta win shows she's by no means out of her element vs. these and with just 5 races in her there's room for further development; has tactical speed and versatility to give her rider options; and if she does have more improvement to show that 97 Beyer she got in the Zenyatta gives her a pretty darn nice stepping-off point; but let's face it, she's not in SoCal any longer and facing tougher than she's ever seen; 3yos have won 11 of the 36 runnings.

Looked poised for a big year after a romp in the G2 Delaware but she needed throat surgery; came back in the G2 Beldame, looked set to make a winning run turning for home but flattened out; trainer Brown said maybe he didn't have her quite as cranked as he thought; well, the good news is she at least has that race under her belt and she's worked splendidly since; her 3rd in the G1 Spinster here a year ago was deceptively good (stuck inside, lost to eventual G1 BC Distaff winner Blue Prize); wouldn't be shocked by leap forward, though whether that's enough vs. 'Girl and 'Skydiver is another matter.

$650K filly big promise in 2019 winning her first 3 starts; but then came 11 months on the bench and her 2 return outings were so-so; however, she's back on the beam winning 3 starts since including a smart tally in the G1 Spinsters on this track at this trip Oct. 4 so maybe she's ready to deliver on that promise and price tag; figures to sit a few lengths off the lead and then go after them; smart works since say she's doing well and if she moves forward off that 96 Spinster Beyer then look out; Pletcher won this with Stopchargingmaria (2015) and Ashado (2004).

Been awfully unlucky not to have won a G1 this year; after all, she comes off 4 real good G1 efforts including a nice 2nd in the Spinster here Oct. 4; continues to work strongly and she's got the tactical speed and versatility to be in a good spot from the start; still, all those near-misses this year make you wonder if she's simply always going to find someone just a smidge too tough in this deepest end of the pool.

A phenomenal stat courtesy colleague Jay Privman - she's faced 101 foes and beaten 100 of them; hasn't finished behind a horse since Nov. 2017; an amazing story as she missed all of 2019 after her championship 3yo filly season of 2018 when she won this race; 3 races this year convince she's back; in fact, when she run the G2 Ruffian at BEL July 11 she did so with a career-top Beyer (104); by all reports continues to thrive; only prior start here was a romping win; has tactical speed and versatility to give Geroux options; note 'Skydiver's Preakness Beyer (105) tops this gal's 104. -Michael Hammersly

CLOSER LOOK: This is the third BC Turf appearance for this Kentucky-based veteran who was fourth at Churchill Downs in 2018 and eighth last year at Santa Anita. A five-time stakes winner, this 6-year-old ran his best race of the year in the Grade 3 Kentucky Turf Cup at 1 1/2 miles on Sept. 12. He runs from off the pace and will not be urged in the first part of the race with a rail draw. At best, he can hit the board in this very tough race.

Second to the European star Enable in this race at Churchill Downs in 2018, she has won three Group 1 races this year, two against males in Ireland. She was third in the Group 1 Champion Stakes as the 9-5 favorite at Ascot on Oct. 17. She raced in traffic in the last quarter-mile which disrupted her momentum at a pivotal point. With Aidan O'Brien as trainer, this 5-year-old mare will rightfully receive ample support.

Perfect in three starts, all against fillies and mares, this year, this 4-year-old filly faces males for the first time in her 14th start. She will have no trouble with the distance, and can handle courses ranging in condition from firm to heavy. She has won six stakes, always racing from a stalking position or off the pace. She had a fees-paid berth in the Filly and Mare Turf, but is starting in this tougher spot at a distance that is a better fit.

Her only group-level stakes win was 16 months ago and she is winless in two starts this year. If she wins, it would be a shocking result. If she finishes in the top three, a surprise. This year, she has finished sixth and fourth in Group 1 races at Ascot, unable to overcome issues at the start.

This former claimer earned a fees-paid berth with a narrow win over United in the Grade 2 Del Mar Handicap on Aug. 22. He has been based at Keeneland in the last month to have repeated workouts on the turf course. A 6-year-old, this horse has won his last three starts by rallying from well off the pace in lesser races. This is one heckuva place for a Grade 1 debut.

This is another American runner who has appeared in this race in the last two years, finishing 11th in 2018 and last of 12 last year. Interestingly, he approaches this race having won consecutive races for the first time in his 36-race career with the wins in Grade 1 races at 1 1/2 miles at Saratoga and Belmont. In both races, he set a slow pace and was clear late. The same strategy will be difficult here, but he may be the one to catch.

A very dangerous prospect who is in the midst of a solid year, highlighted by a convincing win in the Group 1 Grand Prix de Paris for 3-year-olds at Longchamp in France on Sept. 13. Top French jockey Pierre-Charles Boudot keeps the mount. This well-bred colt will have his debut against older horses, but that was not the intention. He was scratched from the Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe in Paris last month out of concern of feed contamination. -Steve Andersen

CLOSER LOOK: Won two preps impressively before finishing an underrated 4th in the Derby last year with some trouble, then quickly became everyone's punching bag in the second half of 2019 while failing as the favorite in the Belmont/Jim Dandy/Travers - though he had legit excuses in those races; he easily defeated a weak bunch in the Suburban to post his lone win of the year, but the reality is that he has not taken a step forward so far as a 4yo; his last two races have been disappointing but he can get this distance and you'll get a horse with some ability at a price in this gray colt.

CLOSER LOOK: Explosive 3yo appeared to only be doing what required while winning his first two starts of this year, but he really started making strides over the summer while crushing fellow sophomores in the (shortened) Belmont and the Travers, which was relatively weak this year in retrospect; was defeated on the square as a very heavy favorite in the Derby, but he ran his race there and was not disgraced by front-running Authentic; think he's the 3yo to take this time, if only because of the projected pace of this Classic, but he is likely going to have to run a new top in order to win this race, and he's a stingy 3:1 on the morning line.

Was nowhere in the Derby last May while only two races removed from his maiden win then got the rest of the year off, and he has made significant strides this year as a 4yo; parlayed soft trips into victory in his first three starts of 2020, then was no match for either Tom's d'Etat or Improbable in major summer handicaps, while not embarrassing himself in those races; got back on track vs. weaker last time and his handy running style should have him in position to contend, at least in the early going; think he has something to prove still at this level but he is far from impossible under the right circumstances.

Talented 7yo has had his issues along the way, which is the only reason that he is still around in all likelihood, and he has been brought along expertly by AI Stall since missing over 450 days following a fast win at Saratoga as a 4yo; finished up strong last year to become a Grade 1 winner and he was impressive in winning his first two starts of 2020, including a strong win over Improbable at Oaklawn - Improbable did not have a great trip in that race, but neither did this horse, and that was over a distance that is short of his best; the 109 Beyer he earned two starts back makes him one of the fastest horses on the way in and he had a big excuse in the Whitney when losing all chance at the start; player and he may be a fair price when all is said and Consistent runner looks to be one of the longest shots on the board in this Classic, and rightly so considering his overall form; he is a closer who could benefit from the projected pace of this race, though he seems unlikely to be the best late-finisher in this field; he does like Keeneland and his trainer has a history of getting surprising performances out of his horses on the biggest stages, but a victory would be something of a shock.

His claim to fame remains the Pacific Classic of 2019, where he ran off in the stretch with a 107 Beyer over this distance, though that race may have been more significant for the no-shows rather than for Higher Power's performance; he squared off with Improbable and Maximum Security this summer to no avail, though he may have gotten an over-aggressive ride in the San Diego when cut back in distance; his path to victory over this field isn't easy to map out but he does have that one race that you can keep going back to and he is going to be a big price.

Was clearly dealing with some issues while winning three of his first four starts as a 3yo and he looked like a potential player for the second half of that campaign after an impressive (and fast) win in the Peter Pan in May; unfortunately only managed one additional 2019 start before hitting the sidelines, and he has started to make strides now as a 4yo; he earned that Grade 3 win at Monmouth when fighting back in the stretch, and became a Grade 1 winner when wiring the underachieving Tacitus in the Woodward, which was his first start over this distance; faces a taller order here but he keeps getting better and he has some speed to put into play.

Became something of a forgotten horse after falling as the favorite in last year's Derby and Preakness, and then not finishing that campaign off with a flourish in his final two starts, but he has made up for lost time so far this year while just appearing to be a stronger and more professional racehorse; he took advantage of the misfortune of others to win the Whitney, not that he didn't run well in his own right, and the same might be said for his Awesome Again most recently, but he is running fast races on the way to this Classic and he can rightly lay claim to favoritism; faced a weaker field in the Gold Cup back in June but showed that he can get the distance that day and his current form makes him difficult stand strongly against.

Was a little disappointing in his final Dery prep while just holding on but he took on the challenge from Tiz the Law and turned him away to grab the roses when trying this distance for the first time, and he backed that effort up well when forced to settle for second-best after a long battle with the filly Swiss Skydiver in the Preakness; there are nothing but strong efforts on his card, though the one thing that does appear to be clear at this point is that he needs the lead to be at his best; he is going to have to go fast to get the lead here, and he will then have to hold off the best older horses in training - not to mention Tiz the Law once again - in order to pull off that big Derby/Classic double; truly don't think there is much between him an

Star-crossed colt has been making a comeback for Baffert following the controversy surrounding his prior trainer and he has shown in his three races this summer that, if nothing else, he is a determined runner without an ounce of quit in him; he worked really hard to prevail in the San Diego first-time Baffert after being forced to chase a fast pace, then got away with murder on an easy lead without being challenged in the Pacific Classic; was no match for Improbable in his final prep for this but he was never in a very comfortable position that day while Improbable had the run of the race just sitting things out early; he has finished first in both ten-furlong starts to date and can easily see him turning the tables on Improbable this time; major play - Mike Beer
